

Oracle strongly encourages the House and Senate to pass the United States-Mexico-Canada Agreement.

The USMCA includes updates on intellectual property and digital trade that will lead to unquestionable growth across the United States.

These foundations of strong intellectual property protections and modern digital trade provisions are universally beneficial, and serve as a model for updating other trade agreements and entering into new ones.

Congress should pass this historic, bipartisan agreement to ensure the United States continues its success as the world's leading innovator.
